The San Jose Sharks (@SanJoseSharks) and San Jose Barracuda (@SJBarracuda) have announced plans to aid victims and families affected by the recent Gilroy tragedy and to honor the first responders who assisted in the care and well-being of the wounded.

Through the Sharks Foundation (@SharksCare), the Sharks organization will provide a $10,000 donation to the Silicon Valley Community Foundation (SVCF) for its immediate response giving, ensuring that victims receive services and support to offset expenses and emotional trauma related to the impact of the incident. Partial net proceeds from the Sharks Fan Fest to be held Sunday, September 22 will also support SVCF.

Additionally, the Sharks Foundation will host “Heroes Appreciation Night” on Monday, January 27 vs. the Anaheim Ducks. The Sharks Foundation will host and honor the first responders who assisted those in need during the Gilroy tragedy. Some first responders will be acknowledged during a special on-ice pregame ceremony and will participate in the ceremonial puck drop. Proceeds from the Sharks Foundation’s 50/50 Raffle presented by Black Oak Casino Resort and in-game auction that night will benefit the Gilroy Foundation to aid them in long-term city projects and future Gilroy Garlic Festivals.

The San Jose Barracuda will wear and make available via auction “Gilroy Strong” branded practice jerseys which will be worn before all home games throughout the month of December (five games). Proceeds from the jersey auction will go to the Sharks Foundation which will allocate the funds to the Gilroy Foundation. Additionally, families of those with lost or injured loved ones will be invited to attend the December 14 Barracuda game at no charge with an additional discounted ticket offer going out to all Gilroy residents, students, and employees.

Want 5 Easy Tips for How to Use Us?
1. Select your favorite music.
Make your next party memorable with the popular standards, jazz classics, and Latin favorites.
2. Select songs to suit every mood:
Romantic, casual, sophisticated, upbeat, danceable — whatever you like! Your jazz band can range from an elegant strolling trio to a swinging dance combo.
3. Customize your band.
With just a few changes, you can customize a wedding reception mood to suit every gathering. You can add your personal touch to an intimate cocktail party, or a huge grand opening, and everything in between.
4. Read our testimonials.
We’ve been entertaining people since 1975, and we’ve learned that every celebration is unique in some special way. Read the testimonials on this page, where our fans describe their most memorable musical highlights. You’re sure to find some inspiring ideas for planning your own festivities.
5. Preview us in action.
Most of our engagements are private festivities — wedding receptions, company parties, and anniversary celebrations. But we’re not only live music for a wedding, or a great band for a party. Each month we create a lively mood at several public events in the San Francisco Bay Area. Click “Like” to get reminders (on Facebook) for these events.

Celebrate Pride as we recognize this year's Top LGBTQ-Owned businesses. This event is an opportunity to mix & mingle with LGBTQ Community leaders and kick off Silicon Valley Pride.

Recognizing good work

Deadline Thursday, August 15

We're looking for those who've made a significant impact in the Silicon Valley community.

The Community Impact Awards will go to business people, nonprofits or companies which have made an exceptional impact in the Silicon Valley community.

Our Community Impact Awards are in addition to the Corporate Philanthropists list that the Business Journal will publish of the 50 most generous companies based on their cash contributions to Silicon Valley's charities. To have your company surveyed for the Corporate Philanthropists list, please email our lead researcher, Rosie Downey, at rdowney@bizjournals.com. That deadline is Sept. 1, 2019.

To be considered, people and organizations must be based in Silicon Valley, defined by our coverage area of the following counties: Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito and Monterey, plus portions of San Mateo and Alameda counties south of the San Mateo Bridge.

Join us every at Spread Deli and Bottles every Thursday for Thirsty Thursday, where our Happy Hour extends through closing!
Every Friday we launch our weekend 4-Pack Special! Running through Sunday night, these pre-built mix-and-match 4-Pack are hand selected by the staff here at Spread Deli and Bottles. We do our best to build two specific packs that are perfect for your weekend ahead! We pay attention to the upcoming weather, events, holidays and more, just to better serve you. Don’t miss out, as our packs rotate every week!

Oktoberfest in Downtown Campbell 2019

When: OCTOBER 19, 2019

A Parody of Love, Friendship and Shoes
A Tenes Family Treasure

Rodolfo "Rudy" Tenes’ eldest sister Josefina Lopez had passed away some time ago and her son Carlos Lopez had just begun clearing out the garage. He came across a plastic bag with something bulky and heavy in a dark corner and thought it was a bag of old rags. As he opened the bag to take a look inside before tossing it, he discovered a beautiful rose-colored silk garment with sequins. As he pulled it out of the bag he realized it was a bullfighter's cape and knew exactly who it belonged to, his grandfather Jesus Tenes.

To be precise, it was a Capote de Paseo, a ceremonial cape that a matador drapes over his shoulder when he enters the bullring to the sounds of the Pasodoble.

Carlos’ grandfather, Jesus Tenes was born in Guadalajara, Jalisco, on March 8, 1884. He made his debut as a novillero (novice bullfighter) on September 22, 1907 at the Toreo de la Condesa bullring inauguration on the Hacienda de la Condesa, now the Roma district in Mexico City.

Then on February 27, 1910 he made his alterativa, a ceremony where you become a full-fledged Matador alongside the great Matador Rodolfo Gaona at Toreo de la Condesa. His godfather being the Almeria Julio Gómez "Relampaguito" and the witness Rodolfo Rodarte, with the bull named "Clavellino" from the cattle ranch of Arribas Hermanos.

He had distinguished career performing in Mexico and Texas before retiring to live in Tijuana, Baja California still a territory of Mexico at the time. Before Vegas, Tijuana was a popular weekend spot to visit during prohibition where U.S. citizens could cross the border to imbibe in forbidden spirits.

In Tijuana he became the Inspector de Espectaculos overseeing the new bullring El Toreo De Tijuana Inaugurated on July 3, 1938. Tenes married Maria Encarnación Arazia and settled down with his family living onsite on the right-side of the bullring in a four bedroom house.

During the 40s and 50s Hollywood's elite flocked to Tijuana during the Golden Age of Bullfighting to see famous matadors Armillita, Silverio Pérez, Carlos Arruza, Fermín Rivera and Manolete. Spectators included Humphrey Bogart, Cary Grant, Ricardo Montalbán, Jack Palance, Cesar Romero, Mickey Rooney, and the beautiful Marilyn Monroe, Ava Garner, Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Kim Novak and Mia Farrow.

Rodolfo "Rudy" Tenes’ eldest sister Josefina Lopez had passed away some time ago and her son Carlos Lopez had just begun clearing out the garage. He came across a plastic bag with something bulky and heavy in a dark corner and thought it was a bag of old rags. As he opened the bag to take a look inside before tossing it, he discovered a beautiful rose-colored silk garment with sequins. As he pulled it out of the bag he realized it was a bullfighter's cape and knew exactly who it belonged to, his grandfather Jesus Tenes.

Influenced by their surroundings his sons, Rudy and Jose Luis followed in their father's footsteps to become bullfighters in the 1950s. While Rudy was vacationing in San Francisco he met Lilia Sanchez, fell in love and retired from bullfighting. His father, Jesus died two years later on June 4, 1957.

His widowed mother now had a house filled with bullfighting attire and gear so when Hollywood came knocking, needing authentic costumes for Steinbeck movies amongst others, she sold them the whole lot for $20,000. The one item that his eldest sister, Josefina hung on to be her father’s cape that he used when he became a Matador in 1910.

Carlos remembers his mother and uncle bantering, as siblings do, about who should keep the cape, his eldest daughter or his son who was a bullfighter. Josefina would always end the banter with, "Don’t worry, you’ll get it when I die."

Now 109 years after its debut, Carlos kept his mother's promise and presented the cape to his Uncle Rudy Tenes at a gathering las weekend in San Jose, CA.
